Ike Blames Anti-Nixon Feeling In South America On Economy, Red Agitation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower blamed the anti-Nixon demonstrations in South America on economic difficulties, envy of the United States—and probable Communist agitation.

Eisenhower told a news conference he'd like to do something special for Nixon on the vice president's return to the capital today—maybe even join in a big welcome-home demonstration at the airport—because he admires Nixon's calmness and fortitude and his courage under mob attack.

Industrial Production At Low Point

WASHINGTON (AP)—Industrial production was reported yesterday to have slacked off in April to the lowest point since 1954.

This report from the Federal Reserve Board coincided with those other new economic developments:

1. President Eisenhower said the administration is going to have to decide soon whether to advocate a tax cut as an anti-recession move.

2. The Senate Commerce Committee was reported pretty much in agreement on a bill to repeal wartime taxes on railroad freight and passenger fares.

3. Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia called for a big federal experiment in public housing, including rent subsidies to the poor.

Federal Reserve

The Federal Reserve said its index of industrial production declined two points in April to 126 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The highest the index has been was 147 in December 1956.

The board said auto production dropped to 81 per cent of the 1947-49 average in April, compared with 92 per cent in March.

It was Chairman Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) who reported the imminent approval of the Commerce Committee of a bill to cut rail taxes. Magnuson also said he has heard the administration is proposing to cut taxes on autos and railroads, too.

Eisenhower was reminded at his news conference that many excise taxes, and corporation taxes, will drop automatically June 30 unless Congress acts in the meanwhile to continue them.

It was then he said the administration will have to decide soon what to recommend.

Eisenhower again opposed any idea of a big public works program as a weapon against recession. He said it would take too long to be felt.

Davies Leaves Estate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, lawyer and diplomat who died last week at the age of 81, left a gross estate just under $2,900,000.

Boiling Middle East

U.S. Increases Mediterranean Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is doubling the size of its amphibious Marine force in the Mediterranean and sending more warships into the area in what appears to be a show of strength to help riot-torn Lebanon.

The fleet movements, disclosed last night by the Navy, came a few hours after the State Department reported it is rushing small arms to Lebanon to help the pro-Western government fight off mobs threatening to overthrow it.

The Navy insisted its action is not connected with the Lebanon crisis but is a routine naval exercise in the central Mediterranean. But the Navy refused to disclose the location of the 3,600 Marines aboard 11 ships in the area.

About 1,800 of these Marines aboard six ships had been scheduled to return to the United States after their replacement arrived but the Navy said they will remain in the Mediterranean for the time being.

Separate from the amphibious force, warships of the Mediterranean 6th Fleet will be leaving ports in the area for the next several days to participate in naval exercises.

Announcement of the 6th Fleet movement came as the State Department applauded what it called the courageous efforts of President Camille Chamoun's government to restore order in Lebanon despite five straight days of anti-Western rioting.

Postal Rates Work Complete

Boosts Set For Virtually All Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees last night finished work on a compromise bill increasing postal rates 530 million dollars a year and raising pay of the 500,000 postal employees 257 millions annually.

The bill would boost the first class letter rate to four cents as compared with the present three-cent stamp which has been in effect since 1932. President Eisenhower had asked for five cents on out-of-town mail.

Air mail would be raised from the present six to seven cents. Post cards would go up from two to three cents.

These hikes in first class rates would take effect one month after the end of the month in which the bill is signed by the President.

The bill is still subject to final approval by Senate and House before going to Eisenhower.

Second Class

It would raise second class rates on newspapers and magazines by 60 per cent on the advertising portion of a publication and 30 per cent on the reading portion.

These would take effect in three 20 and three 10 per cent annual jumps, the first being Jan. 1, 1959.

The pay increases for postal workers in the bill would amount to 10 per cent for the great bulk of the employees, those in the first six grades, nine per cent for those in grade seven, and seven and one-half per cent for the higher-level employees.

The Eisenhower administration recommended a six per cent pay increase. But there had been indications it would go one or two percentage points higher. However, the conferees made the pay raises retroactive to Jan. 1 this year.

Senate Votes Approval Of Tiffany

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate yesterday confirmed Gordon M. Tiffany's nomination as staff director of the Civil Rights Commission after a parade of Southern senators questioned his qualifications for the job.

The Southerners also had critical words for the commission itself, saying it would do more harm than good for racial relations.

Nomination

Tiffany, who was nominated the $22,500-a-year post by President Eisenhower nearly three months ago, was confirmed by a 57-13 vote. The opponents all were Southern Democrats.

The 45-year-old Tiffany can now hire other staff employees for the commission so it can begin its investigation of alleged voting rights violations and a study of civil rights problems generally.

Promised Land Project

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority yesterday awarded a $192,917 contract for construction of an earth and concrete dam at Promised Land State Park in Pike County to the Pocono Mountains Construction Co. East Stroudsburg.

The site was destroyed by floods several years ago.

House Approves Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House defeated all attempts to cut deeper into President Eisenhower's foreign aid program yesterday and finally approved $3,603,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Passage was on a roll-call vote of 259-134. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Final passage climaxed three days of sometimes hot debate over America's foreign policy. The bill is still 339 million dollars below what President Eisenhower said was the minimum needed to keep America and the free world strong. The administration planned to push in the Senate to get back some of the money.

The recent wave of anti-American demonstrations in South America and the Middle East, where millions in U. S. aid has been distributed over the years, apparently cost the program little, if any, support.

Most House members appeared to agree with Eisenhower, who told his news conference Wednesday that many developing countries have economic difficulties and have to have aid.

Voting for the new measure were 150 Democrats and 109 Republicans. Seventy-six Democrats and 58 Democrats opposed it.

The House refused repeatedly to go beyond the reductions recommended by its Foreign Affairs Committee. Mutual security funds were cut one billion dollars in 1957 and more than that in 1956.

More cuts may be made, however, when Congress considers the money bill for foreign aid. The bill passed today is only an authorization measure, setting the ceiling for foreign aid spending.

40,000 Seize Offices In Algiers

ALGERS (AP)—A mob of about 40,000 with backing of French army rightist elements seized government offices at the big port of Oran last night and kidnapped provincial Gov. Pierre Lambert.

The leaders identified themselves with French paratrooper Gen. Jacques Massu, who with mob support Tuesday seized the main government building here in Algiers, the capital.

The Massu movement advocating military force to break the nationalist rebellion, as opposed to Paris moderation measures, spread elsewhere in Algeria during the day.

Massu apparently was operating his rightist Committee of Public Safety here under the eyes of his superior, Gen. Raoul Salan, while Massu's movement was spreading in demonstrations and violence.

The new French government in Paris, facing the possibility of civil war pitting French against French, told Salan he was in sole charge of Algerian destinies. What he can do here remained in doubt.

The ringing support of the mobs of Oran for Massu's ideas gave the crisis a grave new turn for the French government.

The Oran mob stormed the Prefecture, battered the building and tossed government papers out of windows.

Gov. Lambert was seized and manhandled by the mob. He fell on the Prefecture steps. Then he was hustled into an army car and driven off to an unknown place.

The demonstrators set up a public safety committee of military officers and civilians and sent fraternal greetings to Massu in Algiers from Oran, a Mediterranean city of about 300,000 in the extreme west of Algeria.

Methodists Call For Investigation

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Methodist Conference called yesterday for a full investigation of the state's parole system with a view to striking at what it labeled a sentimental attitude toward crime.

Such an investigation "by a properly constituted committee should cover the personnel, practices and philosophy of the parole system," said a statement issued by the four district superintendents of the conference.

The conference embraces 308 congregations in a 10-county area of southern Pennsylvania which is administered by the superintendents under Bishop Fred Pierce Corson.

The statement asserted that a detrimental attitude has resulted in much of today's crime being committed by those on parole, as well as in a growing disrespect for law.

"There is only one adequate deterrent to crime—the certainty of swift, sure, just punishment," the report continued. "Lawlessness will be greatly reduced if the juvenile or the adult criminal realizes that upon apprehension he will be punished without hope of unwarranted parole or shortened sentence."

"Impulses to do wrong are encouraged by the attitude that everybody who kills, rapes, steals or destroys is a psychiatric case and therefore not responsible."

36 Years On Courthouse Job

By Don Allen

ONE OF the county's best-known and well-liked public servants Monday begins her 37th year as an employee of the Monroe County government.

She is Mrs. Florence M. Ridgeway of 2064 Miller St., deputy prothonotary and clerk of courts.

Mrs. Ridgeway came to the courthouse from the law offices of the late William Shafer. Prior to that, she attended Scranton business college.

Her first county position was in the office of Harry M. Schoch, register and recorder, in 1922. In the following year, she was made deputy register and recorder—one of the few women to hold the post and the youngest person of either sex to hold such a position at that time.

Mrs. Ridgeway also served as chief assistant to Chester A. Coleman who defeated Schoch for reelection.

When Claude Warner of Saylorsburg succeeded Coleman, she continued in her post and served as acting register and recorder after Warner's death in an automobile accident until his widow, Florence, was named to the post.

Mrs. Ridgeway served as Mrs. Warner's assistant for two years and three months and also served under the first Republican to be elected to the office, P. A. Rockefeller of East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Ridgeway resigned in 1943, but returned to her current position in 1945, serving as deputy to Claude E. Metzgar, James Gould and the incumbent N. Henry Fenner.

In addition to her regular

duties, she serves as a walking encyclopedia on courthouse and legal matters in the county.

If she doesn't know the answer to a question, she knows where it can be found.

And no matter how absurd the question, she manages to remain pleasant and courteous in answering it.

Petrillo Blows Final Note In Retirement Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—James Caesar Petrillo blew a sudden, startling note at the music world yesterday an announcement that he will step out as president of the American Federation of Musicians.

Then he told newsmen: "I kept it quiet. It's tough to get to the top. And I'll tell you it's tough to get out."

The first word of his plan was printed in his organization's official publication. He explained that his physician had advised him to take things easy.

Conference

He sat down in his wood-paneled Chicago office, leaned back in a cushy chair and conducted a news conference.

"I'm just tired," he said. "I've had 42 years of this thing. I wouldn't be doing the organization any good by staying on as president."

Petrillo, 66, gray-haired, stocky and salty in speech, has been a labor leader for 42 years, and head of the AFM for 18 years.

An associate reported telephone calls had been coming in from all over the country.

"They're thunderstruck," he said.

He will keep his post as president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians—a position he has held for 36 years. But he intends to give up his seat on the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

Lawrence Issues Invite

NORRISTOWN (AP)—Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh issued another invitation yesterday for businessmen to support his bid for the governorship.

The Democratic organization candidate urged "enlightened" business management to reconsider what he said was its automatic support of Republican candidates.

Longshoremen Protest

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen walked off the job at a Venezuelan line pier at noon yesterday in protest at the mob treatment of Vice President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday at Caracas, Venezuela.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Vice President Nixon arrived here last night, from his violence-marked visit to Venezuela, for dinner with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin.

New French Government Cracks Down

PARIS (AP)—The new French government cracked down yesterday on a junta led by a parachute general in Algeria and moved resolutely to prevent a rightist coup d'etat in Paris. The government appeared to be making progress on both fronts.

Premier Pierre Pflimlin told Gen. Raoul Salan to take full control as commander of all troops in Algeria and to maintain law and order.

The French Embassy in London said it had reports the parachute general, Jacques Massu, has bowed to Paris authority.

Massu formed a Committee of Public Safety Tuesday in Algiers and demanded that war hero Gen. Charles de Gaulle be put at the head of a military government for France.

Massu backtracked after Salan issued an order for all Algerians to go back to work. Massu canceled his call for further mass demonstrations throughout the day.

Seize Points

Massu's paratroopers seized control of virtually all the strategic points in Algiers Tuesday during riots in which mobs demonstrated against Pflimlin storming the chief government building and sacked the U.S. Information Agency building.

Pflimlin's first act was to ban all public demonstrations throughout France and Algeria.

At his Cabinet's orders, hundreds of armed riot police ringed the National Assembly in Paris. Police vans loaded with security units parked in the center of the Avenue des Champs Elysees all the way from the Arch of Triumph to the Place de la Concorde.

Paris looked like an armed camp as the Cabinet determined to prevent more demonstrations and riots by rightists demanding a far tougher policy against the Algerian rebels than they think Pflimlin will provide.

Justice Minister Robert Lecourt promised deputies in the National Assembly that Pflimlin would make a statement on the situation on Friday. Some deputies demanded an immediate statement.

President Rene Coty, as chief of state and commander in chief, made an unusual appeal to the French army in Algeria to obey government orders.

He said: "Guardians of the national unity, I appeal to your patriotism and good sense not to add to the trials of the motherland, that of a division of Frenchmen before the enemy. All lack of discipline can only benefit those who are fighting us."

Clark Pleased With Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) expressed elation yesterday at Senate passage of the area redevelopment bill and said "I fervently hope that the House will quickly follow our example so that this much needed legislation can become law as quickly as possible."

Clark is a co-sponsor of the bill, which would provide 375 million dollars for federal loans and grants to help industry provide new jobs in chronically depressed areas.

Good Morning!

Is a delegate-at-large a businessman who attends a convention without his wife?

Arriving In Washington This Morning

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Vice President Nixon cut short the tag end of his riot-ridden South American good will tour and took off late yesterday for Puerto Rico.

He is due in Washington at 10 a.m. today.

Venezuela's government sent out troops, tanks and armored cars to give Nixon and his wife, Pat, a safe sendoff.

A bullet-proof limousine was provided for their trip from the U.S. embassy to Caracas airport. It was at the airport that anti-United States demonstrators launched their spitting and stoning attack when the Nixons arrived Tuesday from Bogota, Colombia.

Street Rioting Clubs, stones and eggs battered their cars in street rioting. Yesterday police cleared the streets.

Nixon planned to have dinner in San Juan with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin.

Munoz Marin has been hailed by U.S. senators as an outstanding spokesman for Latin America. The vice president's desire to talk with him may relate to recommendations Nixon is expected to prepare on the basis of his tour.

The original schedule called for Nixon to leave Caracas at 12:30 a.m. today. But he had canceled programmed events after the mob violence and spent most of his time at the embassy residence—U.S. territory.

With the Puerto Rican stopover, his return to Washington will conform to the original schedule of 10 a.m. today.

He and his party took off at 5:09 p.m.

Rumors that he was leaving ahead of time were widespread, but the exact hour had been kept secret. This was to frustrate rioters, though the city was calm and quiet.

Nixon stayed at the U.S. Embassy residence, overlooking Caracas, all morning. He came heavily guarded into the city for lunch with government leaders at the Circulo Militar, a military officers' club.

He was greeted by the junta president, Wolfgang Larrazabal. Nixon's car was escorted by motorcycle outriders. Five trucks loaded of soldiers followed.

Paratroopers

Meanwhile, 1,000 U.S. Marines and paratroopers from U.S. bases took up posts in Cuba and Puerto Rico, about three hours flying time from Caracas. They were ordered there by President Eisenhower to protect Nixon if requested by the Venezuelan government. The government gave assurances it could handle the situation, however.

Eisenhower followed up his order with a telephone call to Nixon. He expressed concern for the vice president's safety but was told by Nixon everything was all right and that Caracas was calm and under control.

U.S. Air Force men attached to the U.S. Embassy took up the guard around the embassy residence. It is usually handled by Venezuelan forces. Hundreds of Venezuelan troops and police patrolled the nearby road.

Venezuelan business leaders and officials of the National Sports Institute called on Nixon. Wives of government leaders and other prominent women called on Mrs. Nixon to express their regrets for the mob violence. Nixon said one of the demonstrators spat in Mrs. Nixon's face.

Neither she nor her husband was hurt but Nixon told reporters later he was "covered with spit from head to foot." Six members of Nixon's party and four Venezuelans greeting them were hurt.

Venezuelan newspapers denounced the anti-Nixon riots unanimously. But the Communist party said Nixon brought on the demonstration by coming to Venezuela.

Stassen Aims Coal Plan

WILKES-BARRE (AP)—Harold Stassen, independent candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, said yesterday that he would set up a program to aid Pennsylvania's ailing coal industry if he were elected governor.

Stassen told a news conference that present leaders of both parties have "neglected and ignored" coal areas and "this industry needs help."

Sentencing Deferred On Two County Court Cases

A MONROE County Court jury yesterday found Raymond Harrison, 31, of 39 Stofflet St., guilty of removing an ornament from a cemetery.

Judge Fred W. Davis deferred sentencing. District Attorney Detlef A. Hansen presented the Commonwealth's case, while Harrison was represented by Edwin Krawitz and Charles Bensinger, court appointed attorneys.

Don Harmer To Appear In State Band

DONALD HARMER, a junior at Stroud Union High School, will represent that institution at the state band competition to be held at Springfield Township High School near Philadelphia today through Saturday.

Harmer, a clarinetist, will be accompanied to the festival by John W. Pyle, Stroud Union band director.

Guest Conductor Allen Flock, director of instrumental music at Bucknell University, will be the guest conductor.

Harmer, in addition to his musical ability, was a member of the football team at the school.

Billy Graham Film To Mark Rally

EVANGELIST Billy Graham's latest motion picture "The Heart Is A Rebel" will be premiered as a forthcoming significant event in the life of our county.

The new feature-length color production stars Ethel Waters, Georgia Lee and John Milford and is scheduled for its local premiere at the Plaza Theater, East Stroudsburg, on Saturday at 8 p.m. It will be sponsored by the Monroe County Youth For Christ.

The story is based on a conflict in the life of a modern young couple when the husband, an advertising executive, can't find a place in his scheme of things for his wife's sudden acceptance of the Christian faith. In a completely "down to earth" setting the situation provides a dimension of reality seldom afforded a religious motion picture.

Ethel Waters adds luster to her long career in the role of the practical nurse who exerts a profound influence on the young couple through her day by day faith in God. A film highlight is Miss Waters' inspiring "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" and the spiritual "Mother, less Child."

Married Couple

Georgia Lee and John Milford give portrayals as the young married couple.

Georgia Lee's previous performances in "Oiltown, U.S.A.", "The Crescent and the Cross", "The Flame" as well as her recent entry into the sacred recording field, have endeared her to audiences around the world.

Jane Withers makes a rare guest appearance in the role of a salesgirl in a large toy store. One of the foremost child stars of yesteryear, Miss Withers has taken time out of both a busy domestic life as well as an active one in her church and with the Hollywood Christian Group of which she is a director.

"The Heart Is A Rebel" provides a "front row" perspective of the Graham team in the crusade setting of Madison Square Garden, New York.

The dynamic preaching of the evangelist is augmented by the singing of George Beverly Shea and the music of a 1,500 voice crusade choir under the direction of Cliff Barrows. Its premiere is particularly timely because of the nationwide interest in the city-wide crusade Mr. Graham is currently conducting in San Francisco.

Bridge Street To Be Closed For Resurfacing Work Today

RESURFACING of Bridge St. with a layer of hot bituminous material is scheduled for today, weather permitting, the State Highway Department announced yesterday.

The street will be closed from 8 a.m. until some time in the afternoon, according to Joseph Ciampi, county maintenance superintendent. The Main St. detour around the Pocono Creek bridge construction project will remain open during the entire time, he said.

Ciampi said a flagman will be stationed at Snyder'sville to detour eastbound traffic on Route 209 by way of Bartonsville and Route 611 to Stroudsburg.

Another flagman will be at Bridge St. and Route 611 to direct traffic headed west on Route 209 by way of Bartonsville and Snyder'sville.

Ciampi also reported yesterday that maintenance forces have completed the laying of a two and one-half inch layer of bituminous material on the stretch of highway between the Lake House, Snydersburg, and Ross Common Manor.

Here's why Plymouth, America's favorite family wagon, is

TODAY'S BEST BUY-TOMORROW'S BEST TRADE

You get more wagon for your money today...more money for your wagon tomorrow!

Any way you look at it, you can't find a better wagon buy than Plymouth! So big—it carries more, does more, provides more room for family fun. So beautiful—just look at those long, years-ahead lines. So economical—Plymouth is priced right in the low-price "3", yet you can't buy a bigger wagon at any price. And further proof: Plymouth beat every car in the low-price class in the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run; Plymouth's second consecutive victory!

Get the biggest wagonload of value at a price far lower than you would expect. See your Plymouth dealer today.

FIVE BIG REASONS WHY YOUR NEXT WAGON SHOULD BE A PLYMOUTH

1. Biggest of the low-price "3". Big as wagons costing thousands of dollars more. You can't buy a bigger wagon at any price!
2. Holds so much more than the "other two". Over 7 cu. ft. extra passenger and cargo space. Optional "secret" luggage compartment available in 6-passenger models.
3. Rear-facing 3rd seat. Folds flush into floor. You don't store it outside when it's not in use. Easy to enter, has convenient back step.
4. Disappearing rear window. Rolls down into the one-piece tailgate. Doesn't jut out. Only on Plymouth wagons in the low-price "3".
5. Torsion-Aire Ride at no extra cost. Only Plymouth has it in the low-price "3". No sideways on turns...no nose-dive on stops.

They don't come any bigger than Plymouth station wagons

President Eisenhower posed a series of questions vital to every American in his recent talk on defense reorganization.

"Is it unity we shall have—unity in strategic planning—unity of military command—unity in our fighting forces? Shall we have the most efficient, least costly defensive system we can devise to counter the deadly menace to our country?" the President asked.

"Or—are we willing to settle for less?" he continued. "Shall we cater to service prejudices at the expense of efficiency? Shall we divide rather than unify our military power? Shall we tolerate confusion, rivalries and inefficiencies in our Defense Department?"

"Shall we tie the hands of our highest defense officials with restrictions adjusted to a military period which is no more?"

The choice is clear, the President observed. "We must stand on the side of unity, efficiency and flexibility in the interest of America's safety and solvency."

Mr. Eisenhower's clear-cut, vigorous talk makes common sense and comes from an individual who has had vast experience in the military structure he wants to reorganize.

He promises to "keep on doing my best" to win approval for the reorganization program. It is sincerely to be hoped he does.

The defenders of the status quo are many. They occupy positions of power in the military services, in Congress and in the industries which do business with the separate services.

This opposition can be overcome, but it will take more of the excellent leadership Mr. Eisenhower has shown thus far in this fight to achieve the safety with solvency which he foresees.

Working-Wife Impact On Economy

Americans who still believe that a woman's place is in the home, particularly after marriage, will be crushed by the latest Census Bureau statistics. More wives are bringing a second paycheck into the home today than ever before.

Of 21,500,000 working women last year, 12,523,000 were married. These working wives represented 20 per cent of the total work force. During the early depression years in the '30s, there were only about 3 million working wives, about 6 per cent of the total work force.

This increase cannot be explained merely as a change in American mores, although this does account for it in part. World War II changed a lot of thinking about woman's ability to hold down a man-sized job and gave many a married woman, who filled in as part of the war effort, a sense of economic independence she wanted to hang onto after the war.

Desire for a higher standard of living in the face of an increasing cost of living provides most of the incentive for working wives, if the Census Bureau figures are meaningful. When hubby earns less than $5,000 annually, one-third of the wives take a job. One-fifth of the wives whose husbands earn between $7,000 and $10,000 work and the ratio drops to one out of nine when the man of the house earns in excess of $10,000 a year.

This family salary-bracket breakdown spotlights the overriding reasons that wives work. It can be summed up in one word: Money.

This conclusion, too, can be drawn from the Census Bureau findings: The unemployment compensation totals and other jobless statistics do not measure today, as they did in the early '30s, stark, unadulterated need.

Today's jobless totals undoubtedly must contain the names of many out-of-work husbands or wives whose mate still is drawing a paycheck. In these two-paycheck families, there is rough going and a standard of living that has had to be clipped considerably. But there is nowhere near the misery and the struggling that will be found in a family whose lone breadwinner is out of work.

The working wife has become an important factor in the Nation's economy—good times or bad.—Harrisburg Patriot.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

What Ike Will Get

Washington — President Eisenhower is going to come out better in the stormy Pentagon reorganization than he is being widely indicated.

That has been definitely agreed on by the two bipartisan leaders who rule the House Armed Services Committee—Representatives Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), powerful long-time chairman, and Leslie Arends, III, senior Republican.

Under the major provisions of the legislation they are already privately drafting, the President will get considerably less than he is vigorously urging, but quite a bit more than appeared likely at the turbulent start of this far-from-ended controversy.

One thing is certain. Whatever Vinson and Arends decide on will be in the reorganization bill as it emerges from the Armed Services Committee. Vinson already has a pledged overwhelming majority for that.

All of the other 19 Democratic committeemen are lined up solidly with him. And of the 16 Republicans, Arends has assured Vinson all but three are committed to vote with him. Arends has also told that to the White House.

Parliamentary strategy is primarily the reason the President will fare better than previously anticipated in the committee's forthcoming measure.

Vinson and Arends can get committee approval of any kind of bill they want. Also, they could probably get their way, or most of it, in the full House. The veteran Georgian and canny Illinoisian, who is also the GOP Whip, have a lot of influence with their colleagues.

But the two astute leaders have their eye on the Senate—where the outcome of this legislation is still in the making.

By putting through the House a "moderate" measure, that doesn't go too far in rebuffing the President's demands, Vinson and Arends figure they will strengthen their hand in two ways: (1) Win support for their bill in the Senate; (2) enhance their position for "negotiating" in the conference committee deliberations between the two chambers to iron out their differences.

In those closed-door sessions, in which Vinson and Arends will participate very importantly, is where the bill that will finally be put up to the President will be written.

What's In It—That's why the President is going to get a better shake in the Vinson-Arends measure—in the following "compromise" provisions they have privately agreed on:

The Secretary of Defense will be given authority, as sought by the President, to determine the "rules and missions" of the armed services. But these decisions will be made subject to Congressional approval. No drastic changes can be made by the Defense Secretary until the House and Senate have voted on them.

Also as recommended by the President, the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air

Better Look Elsewhere

Dear Abby: I am a normal man of 62 with no bad habits. I live in a rooming house and a widow, age 54, lives here, too. She slips notes under my door and asks me to knock on her door. When I do we go out for a walk or to a movie. She is friendly and I like her a lot but she won't let me kiss her. She says she was hurt once by a deceiving man and doesn't want to take any chances. I could love this woman but how can I get any place if she won't even let me kiss her?

Dear Charlie: Neither of you are getting any younger. If you like walks and movies, she's your girl — BUT if you have something more permanent in mind — look elsewhere.

Dear Abby: I was so in love with this boy that when he went overseas I cried my eyes out. That was four months ago. My mother made me go out with others to take my mind off him. Now I fell in love with another guy. He took my mind off my overseas sweetheart completely but my problem is I think I am in love with both of them. Is this possible?

IN LOVE WITH TWO
Dear In: This isn't possible! You are probably not in love with either of them. Love lasts longer than four months. If you want proof — go with others.

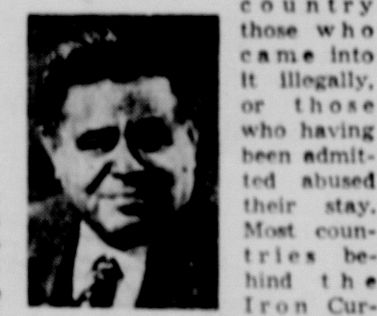

Dear Abby: A letter in your column prompts me to write this. I used to have visions (nightmares, really) about my son being hurt on his bike. So I used to walk my 13-year-old son to school and back. I worried about him whenever he was out of my sight. He was a nervous wreck and so was I. I finally went to see a psychiatrist with him and we had six one-hour visits. I never dreamed the harm I was doing. My son was helped right away and so was I. He is well and happy, gained weight, and has friends. I don't have the nightmares anymore. Tell people, Abby, a psychiatrist is not for crazy people alone.

George Sokolsky Says...

Throw Dem Bums Out!

A major difficulty facing Immigration and other authorities is to get out of the country those who came into it illegally, or those who have been admitted abused their stay.

Most countries behind the Iron Curtain, for instance, do not accept such expellees, which means that they remain in the United States because they have nowhere to go.

One case now pending has attracted considerable attention. William Heikkila was admitted at New York for permanent residence on June 9, 1906. He registered as an alien on December 12, 1940, admitting membership in the Communist Party. Although he had been in the United States since 1906, he first applied for naturalization at San Francisco on June 13, 1945. This application is still pending.

An effort was made on January 4, 1948 to deport him as an alien member of the Communist Party. Heikkila appealed to courts; appeals rejected. He was given a deportation hearing by the Immigration and Naturalization Service which on December 16, 1949 ordered him deported. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals overruled prior court decisions and deportation hearings started all over again.

10-Year Hearings
Thereupon commenced lengthy proceedings in courts, in hearings before the Immigration Service, year by year, lasting from 1948 to the present, for a period of 10 years. The Heikkila case has been before the Supreme Court of the United States several times: September 3, 1952, he filed an appeal with the United States Supreme Court; March 16, 1953, the Supreme Court dismissed his appeal; April 27, 1953 his petition for a rehearing denied by the United States Supreme Court. After going through other courts, he files a certiorari denied.

On May 17, 1955, Heikkila, having exhausted every judicial means, started all over again with the Immigration authorities. He had had his day in court; he had lost. On Oct. 26, 1955, after a hearing, he was again ordered deported. Again the appeals started.

It was as though there had never been any appeals before, as though his case had not gone all the way up to the United States Supreme Court and had been rejected.

Heikkila or his lawyers have actually worked out a new gimmick in the law, namely, they go back to the starting point after each defeat and go right through the same judicial process up to the United States Supreme Court. This can go on forever or as long as the guy lives and has money to hire lawyers.

The only practical way for the Immigration authorities to function is to seize the expellee the moment he is without judicial protection and literally give him the bum's rush. This was done in the cases of Michael Spiniella, Joseph Accardi and Giuseppe Gagliano. Spiniella, a proved racketeer, was ordered deported by Attorney General McGranery.

On June 30, 1937, 7,493 orders for deportation had not been executed. The Immigration Service comments in its 1937 report: "But the troublesome cases are those where deportation is delayed and delayed. One major problem is the refusal of countries to issue travel documents for deportation. More than half of the cases in the inactive category are for persons from countries in the Communist orbit, for whom travel documents are not available."

The question must arise why these people want to stay in this country. A Communist is committed morally and intellectually to the proposition that the United States is an imperialistic country, a warmonger, an exploiter of the worker and the enemy of the Worker's Paradise, the Socialist Fatherland.

Such a person can only wish to remain here for one of two reasons: 1. Either he does not believe what he says is true but has a private and perhaps sinister reason for advocating what he does not believe; or, 2. He is sincerely and devotedly employed in the overthrow of our form of government and our social institutions by whatever manner he believes to be most available to him. He should be given his day in court, but does that mean 10 years of continuous and repetitive administrative hearings and judicial trials? At a certain point, such conduct must be regarded as capricious and contemptuous. True, our sense of justice requires that a man exhaust his opportunity for appeal, but is not a decision by the United States Supreme Court the last resort? How many times can a man go ring-around-rose?

Jim Riley Says:

Here's 10 Cents Worth Of Reading

Maybe you can't buy much with a nickel these days, but we can have 10 cents worth of reading today.

Both yarns leading off today's bit of chit-chat revolve around a nickel.

The opening story involves a woman from Effort, who doesn't want her name used.

It seems that on Tuesday her star left home for a hurried trip to Stroudsburg. Upon arrival in the borough she parked near Court House Square.

She calmly alighted from the car and reached into her purse for a dime, nickel or a couple of pennies to feed the parking meter.

The lady from Effort was most disturbed when she found that no coins answering this description were available in her purse.

A man came down the street at this point and the disturbed lady asked the gentleman if he could change a dollar.

He remarked that he didn't have that much change available, but that he would give her a nickel, so that she wouldn't receive a parking ticket.

The man departed as quickly and quietly as he arrived, but our visitor was saved an embarrassing fate.

The Effort resident was truly grateful Tuesday night, as she related the incident.

Yes, you can buy gratefulness for a nickel.

The next story about a nickel involves a four-year-old boy — who by the way is a real boy in every sense of the word.

This youngster was going to Sunday School last Sunday when Old Man Devil poked his ugly head into the picture.

Satan filled the air with thoughts of candy and our little fellow got the idea to put his nickel, meant for Sunday School, into a hiding place and purchase some candy on the way home. All went well with the idea until our hero found the candy store closed enroute home. When he arrived home, our friend placed the nickel in his mouth, so as to hide it. Yep, you guessed it — the four-year-old swallowed the coin. But, it all came out in the end. However, there were a couple of anxious days.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, who carries the Monroe County banner in congress, will speak at the 62nd annual Easton Jacksonian Democratic Club banquet next Monday. The affair is scheduled to be held at the Forks Township Fire House at 6:30 p.m.

Trogner Speaks Out

East Stroudsburg, Pa. To the Editor:

In your editorial of May 7, 1958 you dwell on the need for citizens to be fully informed on all public matters.

Of course your emphasis was on the free access of the press to various governing bodies. What good does it do, however, for the press to have free access to all such items of public interest if the newspapers don't print the facts fully and accurately?

A glaring example of what I mean has just occurred in the Record.

On the front page of the May 10 issue appears an article with big headline "Shortway Body Plans for Public Hearing". In the article it states that a public hearing would be held at 7:30 p.m. on May 23 at the consolidated school in Tannersville "to sound out public sentiment on the portion of the Shortway between the Stroudsburg Thruway and Crescent Lake."

This morning (May 12) in the legal section of the Record appears a notice that a public hearing will be held at the Tannersville school on Thursday May 22 and the description of the road under discussion shows it will run from

Gothe—Pocono Pete

A world traveler, an exclusive dress designer, David E. Gothe (pronounced go-THAY) has a productive retreat in Monroe County. From experience Mr. Gothe relates that there is no place in the world like Monroe County. He anticipates retirement to his farm on Franklin Hill.

The Gothe Salon in Paris has styled untold numbers of original exclusive fancy cocktail and evening dresses for royalty and other prominent Europeans.

David Gothe's natural talent for designs that express exclusiveness has attracted the socially high-up from everywhere.

Mrs. Irene Gothe is a well known selective designer also. Many of her well earned laurels are passed lightly and graciously left to be showered upon her famous husband.

Mr. Gothe is the living artist that designed and produced the three inauguration gowns for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. The historic dresses are in the Smithsonian Institution.

The New York Gothe Salon designed and produced gowns currently being worn by U.S. Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest, Mrs. Sherman Adams, Mrs. James Hagerly and Mrs. Arthur Summerfield. Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has one of the Gothe evening wraps.

The U.S. Treasurer and Mr. Priest have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gothe in Franklin Hill many times. Franklin Hill is located southeast of East Stroudsburg.

Others wearing Gothe productions are Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Harold Stassen. Barbara Britton, Kay Kendall, Mary Healy, Polly Bergen, Loretta Young and Maggi McNeill are among the entertainment celebrities that wear attractive Gothe productions. Joan Crawford wore a Gothe original when she was married to Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Ward-robbers of Monroe County contain authentic Gothe apparel. Among them are Mrs. Montgomery Crowe, Mrs. Hilda LaBar, Mrs. Jane Henzey, Mrs. Frank Patterson, Mrs. Worthington, Mrs. J. Hill Schullman and Mrs. E. H. Staples.

Some months ago with reference to Grandmother and her common knowledge of Materia Medica and Botany, we wrote concerning the wealth of natural resources in the Poconos and Monroe County. That property in and around the Stroudsburgs is an excellent investment and substantiated with the discovery of a tremendous quantity of peat moss (humus) on the Gothe farm.

Many similar instances could be cited. About 12 years ago, a particular variety of clay suitable for making fine pottery was recognized on local farm land. Manufacture of earthenware at the spot is thriving and the hardened molds from Monroe County have found their way all around the United States.

Geologists from Rutgers determined that the peat moss deposits on the Gothe property are of the world's finest quality and in the tremendous quantity of a million and a half yards.

Enthusied with the Pocono peat moss find, the designer of glamour gowns for the world, modestly turns to wearing overalls every week-end.

With his tractor, Gothe enjoys gathering and packaging the exceptional moss. Like his talent for designing gowns, Gothe was original in designing the registered trade mark "Pocono Pete". The trade mark depicts a gardener with a rake and overalls.

Mention in nurserymen circles brought quantity orders and distribution throughout the East. The E. H. Staples heavy equipment has been digging, shredding and seasoning "Pocono Pete" for months. The fine product is available through local dealers.

Today's Pennsylvania Dutch corner mentions friends, neighbors and local women's and Misses' apparel shops... good places to shop.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

considered policy of the Highway Department and they have so far been ably assisted by the Record.

Since ads for inclusion in Monday's paper have to be in the Record office by noon on Saturday why wasn't there an article on the front page today, of equal prominence to that of last Saturday, correcting the date and giving the correct road description?

And while we are on the subject of complete news coverage, why hasn't the Record brought out, under big headlines, the fact that none of the people who are to lose their homes or property in the building of the first section of this "Stroudsburg Thruway" have yet been given written legal notice to that effect although bids were opened last Friday for the construction?

Yes, those whose homes are being taken have been visited by one or two men who verbally told them they would have to be out by May 31 but that this constitutes legal notice I challenge. How are these people to buy new homes in this short time when they don't even know what the Highway Department will force them to take for their present property?

The whole procedure has an extremely bad odor!

Stroud Union Board Discusses Hiring Two Teachers

Guidance Program Fits In Study

STROUD Union School Board heard a recommendation last night for employment of two more teachers in the high school. Employment of one—a mathematics teacher—would make it possible for the school to provide better guidance counseling service to its 1,000 students.

Alfred W. Munson, high school principal, told the board that Raymond Serfass, presently designated as the guidance counselor, also teaches four math classes.

Cutting down on Serfass' teaching load would make it possible for him to devote more

Two Lectures Slated For St. Matthew's

"RELIGION in the home and the community can be a bond of communion or a barrier of separation," Rev. Benjamin Franklin Bowling said yesterday.

Tonight at 7:30 Father Bowling, a member of the Congregation of St. Paul, more popularly known as the Paulist Fathers, will give the first of two informal lectures. The second will be held tomorrow night at 7:30. Both are scheduled for St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church in East Stroudsburg.

The lectures are designed for both Catholics and non-Catholics. Everyone is invited to attend, and there is no charge or obligation in any way, Rev. Harold G. Durkin, pastor of St. Matthew's Parish said.

Included in the lectures will be a discussion of the "many misunderstood doctrines of the Catholic Church," Father Bowling said. "This will be an inside view of the Church and of the Stations of the Cross, confession, the use of statues, candles, vestments and the Holy Vessels which are an integral part of the Mass."

"There will be open question periods after each of the two informal talks. Questions may be prepared and written down ahead of time for submission during the lecture," the priest said.

Friday night's topic will be confined to marriage and related matters. It will be of special interest to non-Catholics who are partners in mixed marriages or those anticipating marriage with Catholics.

Father Bowling was a classmate of Father Durkin at Mount St. Mary College in Emmetsburg, Md. He spent 10 years as director of the Newman Club at the University of California at Los Angeles; later directed Catholic information centers in Baltimore and Boston.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation... with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 16 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Request For Special Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was asked yesterday to request President Eisenhower to proclaim June 9-14 as National Little League Baseball Week.

A resolution by Rep. Alvin R. Bush (R-Pa.) urged Congress to make the request in recognition of "the national benefits resulting from little league activity."

Two Lectures Slated For St. Matthew's

"RELIGION in the home and the community can be a bond of communion or a barrier of separation," Rev. Benjamin Franklin Bowling said yesterday.

Tonight at 7:30 Father Bowling, a member of the Congregation of St. Paul, more popularly known as the Paulist Fathers, will give the first of two informal lectures. The second will be held tomorrow night at 7:30. Both are scheduled for St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church in East Stroudsburg.

The lectures are designed for both Catholics and non-Catholics. Everyone is invited to attend, and there is no charge or obligation in any way, Rev. Harold G. Durkin, pastor of St. Matthew's Parish said.

Included in the lectures will be a discussion of the "many misunderstood doctrines of the Catholic Church," Father Bowling said. "This will be an inside view of the Church and of the Stations of the Cross, confession, the use of statues, candles, vestments and the Holy Vessels which are an integral part of the Mass."

"There will be open question periods after each of the two informal talks. Questions may be prepared and written down ahead of time for submission during the lecture," the priest said.

Friday night's topic will be confined to marriage and related matters. It will be of special interest to non-Catholics who are partners in mixed marriages or those anticipating marriage with Catholics.

Father Bowling was a classmate of Father Durkin at Mount St. Mary College in Emmetsburg, Md. He spent 10 years as director of the Newman Club at the University of California at Los Angeles; later directed Catholic information centers in Baltimore and Boston.

Club To Hold Rummage Sale

THE SOROPTIMIST Club will hold a rummage sale today, tomorrow and Saturday at 37 Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, for the benefit of its nurse's scholarship fund.

Hours will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. today; 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

U. S. Population Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's population increased to 173,435,000 at the beginning of last month, the Census Bureau estimated yesterday. This was an increase of 225,000 over the March 1 estimate.

Since April 1957, the population has increased by 2,925,000.

How Cruel Can You Get?

LONDON (AP)—Albert Oxley, 55, was granted a divorce on cruelty grounds yesterday, testifying his wife declined to help him on with his pants after he fractured his collar bone.

Divorce Commissioner Constantine Gallop dismissed cruelty charges brought by Mrs. Daisy Oxley, 46, who said her husband objected to women wearing slacks and once hit her with a belt.

Employment Service To Open Office

MOUNT POCONO — The Stroudsburg office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service will open a sub-office today in the Casino Building, Belmont Ave., Mount Pocono.

The purpose is to provide a convenient job information and referral service to local residents of Mount Pocono, Pocono Summit, Long Pond, Pocono Pines, Tobyhanna, Blakeslee, and surrounding areas.

It will also provide this service to a large number of out-of-area persons who travel to the Poconos to seek work with summer resort employers. Many of these people contact three or four employers and if not hired return to their homes.

Central Point

By providing a central point for job information, an applicant can be referred to hotels in need of his particular skill.

No Unemployment Compensation claims will be taken in Mount Pocono. Persons desiring to file such claims will report, as in the past, to the Stroudsburg local office.

Ascension Observance

TODAY marks the solemn observance of the Ascension in all Roman Catholic Churches.

It is a Holy Day of Obligation for all Catholics. Masses will be held in all churches in St. Matthew's Parish at the following times:

Time Schedule

At 6:15 and 9 a.m. and 12:05 p.m. in St. Matthew's, East Stroudsburg.

At 7 and 8 a.m. in St. Luke's, Stroudsburg.

At 7:30 a.m. only in St. John's Bushkill.

Service At St. Paul's

TANNERSVILLE — Ascension Day service will be held here at St. Paul's Lutheran Church today.

The service is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Episcopal Church Plans For Service

THE FEAST of the Ascension of our Lord will be observed today at 7:30 p.m. in Christ Episcopal Church, N. 7th St., Stroudsburg, by a celebration of the Holy Eucharist.

The Children's Choir and the Adult Choir, under the direction of Douglas Gordon, will sing.

Unique Feature

According to Rev. Charles A. Park, rector of Christ Church, a unique feature of the Ascension Day Eucharist is the extinguishing of the Paschal Candle after the reading of the Holy Gospel.

Ten Paschal Candles, which was ceremoniously lighted on Easter Even., symbolizes the Risen Christ.

Its extinguishing on Ascension Day symbolizes His withdrawal into the heavenly realms from whence He had come.

Mrs. Doud 80 Years Old

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Elvira Doud, President Eisenhower's mother-in-law, observed her 80th birthday yesterday. A quiet celebration with her two daughters, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower and Mrs. Gordon Moore, was planned at the Doud residence on Lafayette Street.

Mrs. Doud has been in ill health in recent months. The Secret Service said Mrs. Eisenhower denied a request by news photographers for a picture of Mrs. Doud with her daughters.

Cook Arrested As Girl's Killer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Police yesterday arrested Joseph Nastasio, 32, alias Tony Noletti, on a murder charge in the rape-slaying of 16-year-old Mary Jane Hanselman.

The body of the girl, strangled with her own stocking, was found April 27 in a roadside gully north of the state fairgrounds.

Nastasio was employed as a cook at the restaurant where the Hanselman girl worked part time.

State Rests Case

CLEARFIELD (AP)—The state rested its case yesterday at the trial of Bernice Travis, 22, of Coalport, for the fatal shooting of her father, Benny, last January.

It takes a GIANT to deliver just what 225,000 doctors ordered

The man in white, carefully compounding the doctor's prescription, is a druggist. He is one of 110,000 dedicated pharmacists across the land who contribute to safeguarding the health of all of us.

Throughout the year, these druggists stand ready to give you exactly what the nation's 225,000 doctors order. It's a giant task—a conscientious task.

Your local druggist is also a business man, a retailer of many diversified products in addition to drugs. His wares may range all the way from toiletries to toasters.

That's why 73% of the total advertising budgets of all drug stores is invested in newspapers.* Drug store operators have found that newspaper advertising is the most effective and efficient way to keep you informed about products and prices. They also know it gets results.

Like the druggist, most advertisers depend on newspapers for results. That's why, year after year, they invest more money in newspapers than in radio, TV, magazines and outdoor combined!

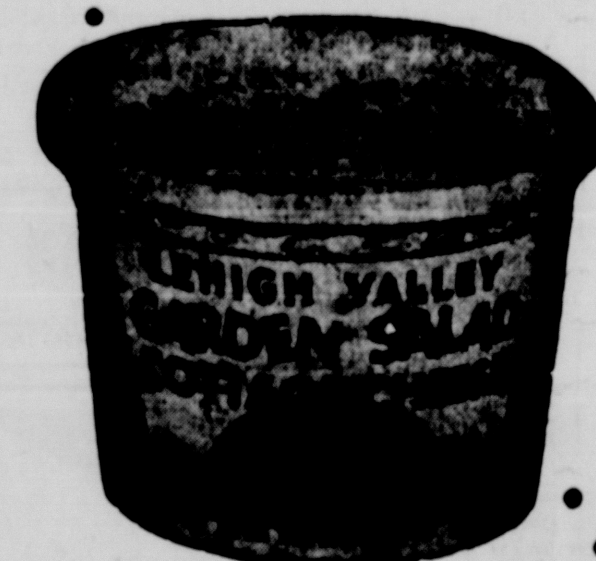

All business is local...and so are all newspapers

Spray Aids In Growth Of Holly

HOLLY: Few things are more exasperating than a holly which doesn't bear berries for the winter months.

The reason for this non-productivity is simple: There are male and female trees or bushes. Only the female will produce berries and only after pollinated by male bushes. Male hollies can never be made to bear berries.

But there is something you can do to a female holly to make it bear, and without benefit of a male companion. And that's through the use of a water spray containing plant hormones (naphthaleneacetic acid) which has the same effect of a male pollinizer.

Sometimes, oddly enough, even a male plant near a female one doesn't always insure a full crop of red berries.

If you have a holly problem, try one of the hormone sprays mentioned above, at the rate of one-quart of water. The material needs considerable mixing before you put it in your sprayer. An ordinary fly sprayer works fine.

Spray your female holly once a day when blooms are open, and after the flowers fade in a week or so, you'll see green berries starting to form.

The finer the mist from your sprayer the better luck you'll have. A coarse mist isn't effective as the drops are too large to penetrate into the blooms. The dust for pollination of your holly is only a few cents, a small price to pay for gay red berries on your bushes during the drab winter months. But don't expect this to make a male bush bear berries!

Incidentally, if you're lucky enough to find a neighbor's male holly in bloom at the same time your female bush is, you can cut branches and place them in buckets of water and place them around your plant. Bees and insects will carry pollen to the female flowers. This doesn't always work because there may be a difference in blooming time between the sexes.

Lily Care: That lily you received for Easter should be nicely resting in a permanent spot of your garden by now. If not, remove the bulb from the pot and set it out whether or not the foliage is yellow.

I like to cut the old stalk back to where it's green—say a foot or so above the ground, and it's a good idea to keep the bulb watered during the summer. You'll be pleasantly surprised to find that it will bloom again for you in August or September.

The Easter lily is perfectly hardy and there's no need to mulch or cover the bulb in winter. Don't attempt to force it again indoors, as you're apt to be disappointed with it.

Question Box

J. R., of Stroudsburg: I've received some bulbs from South Africa, called Chinerichiee, but no instructions came. Are they hardy enough for our area? I'd like to know something about their culture.

The bulbs you have are the South African "wonder flower" botanically known as Ornithogalum thyrsoides. It's common name in South Africa is Chinerichiee, a greenhouse plant here since it is not hardy outdoors. Lately soap firms and other concerns have advertised this and we've seen three different spellings for this bulbous herb.

Chinerichiee (pronounced ching-ker-chee), Chinkerichiee, and Chinerichiee are spellings you see, but I prefer Chinerichiee (pronounced Chinerichiee). Bulbs are globe-shaped, 1 1/2 inches thick.

The variety Aureum has brilliant long-lasting yellow flowers although you can obtain bulbs with white blooms.

For indoor culture, plant the bulbs in a mixture of loam and peat or compost plus sand. Bulbs are planted in September 1, 1 inch deep in pots, bowls or boxes.

Avoid overwatering when growth starts and after full growth has been attained, you can give more water. After the foliage starts to turn yellow, you can withhold watering and dry the bulbs for another year.

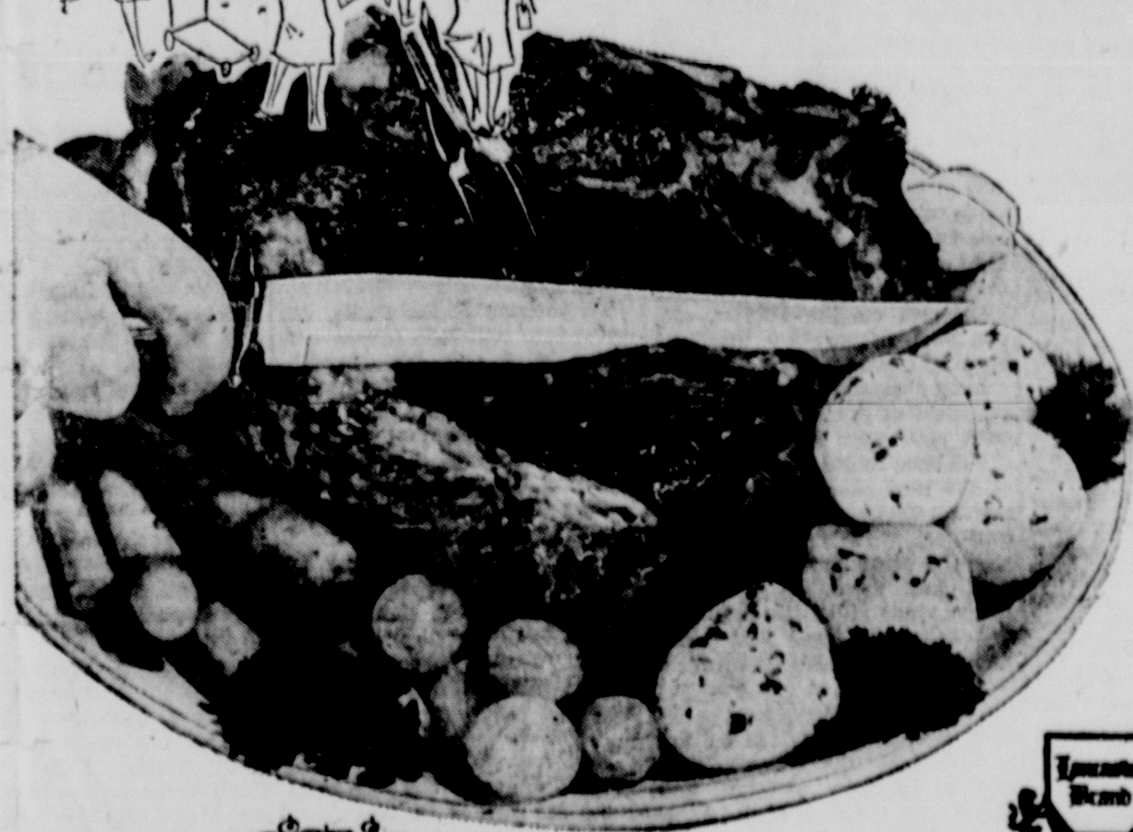

N. H., of Canadensis: "Each year our birch tree is attacked by a blight which turns the leaves brown in summer. What spray will check this?"

Your birch has the dreaded birch leaf miner, a small flat worm which eats or miners the inner leaf tissues, causing the leaves to look parched or brown, or scorched in appearance.

Control: Act fast and spray immediately since adult black flies have started to emerge from the soil to lay eggs inside the birch leaves.

CARDS AND A QUEEN—at the BPWC card party and fashion show held Thursday night at the new Water Gap Country Club. A portion of the crowd of more than 276 is shown inspecting a summer print being modeled by Patty Albertson.

TELLING THE TALE of today's fashion trend Carol Willhoite and Alma Marger show the simplicity of line, distinguished by color, fabric and accessories, in the new styles.

Fashions Highlight Card Party

The Business and Professional Woman's Club filled the new Water Gap Country Club on Thursday night for the card party and fashion show held for the benefit of the welfare projects of the club.

Tables filled the lounge, dining room and upper porch of the clubhouse which will have its formal opening on Saturday.

Highlight of the party was the fashion show presented by Mrs. Thelma Maxwell at 10 o'clock. Distinguishing the new fashions were the colors, including iridescent, bold plaids and subtle tone-on-tone floral prints; the fabrics, cottons, silks, and linens combined with synthetic fabrics so that they are washable and require little ironing.

While the controversial "sack" or "chemise" dresses highlighted the show, there were plenty of other styles for those not yet convinced. The shirtwaist, the full-skirted princess, the sheath with matching jacket all had their star showings.

For sports, the ensemble with shirts matching or contrasting with tapered slacks, or Jamaica or Bermuda shorts were shown. Climax of the show were the bathing suits: black lace with rhinestones, silver lame, and pleated skirts, with a final contrast provided by Blanche Mackey in an old-fashioned bathing suit, complete with moth-holes and long black stockings.

Howard W. Knickman, of Delaware Water Gap Country Club, and the managers, Mr. and Mrs. Gee, served strawberry short-cake and coffee after the fashion show. Table prizes were small potted plants.

Mrs. Dorothy Storms was in charge of arrangements for the successful party. She was assisted by Betty Peterson, Frank Walker, Josephine McGowan, Ida Jolley, Margaret Catlin, Margaret Beers, Betty Noack, Ruth Brown, Joyce Rutt and Ann George.

Social Friday At St. Matthews By Confraternity

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of St. Matthew's R. C. Parish will hold its annual social Friday night at the Parochial School auditorium.

Time of the social is from 9 to 11 p.m., immediately following church services scheduled for that night.

Willis Brown and his orchestra will play for those wishing to dance. Everything is free. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Robert Mathews of Victor, New York, made the catch of her life while honeymooning at Brown's Lake in the Poconos. Mrs. Mathews with an assist from her husband landed this 22-inch 7-pound large-mouth Bass. Brown's Lake located at Seese Hill is privately owned and has a special license for year round fishing. The lake is a popular honeymoon spot.

YMCA Aux. Sets Projects For New Year

Two big projects have been set up for next year by the YMCA Aux. at their meeting on Tuesday night following the dinner for directors and auxiliary members at the Y attended by 80 persons.

Mrs. Detlef Hansen and Mrs. Edward Williams were installed as co-presidents of the auxiliary by Mrs. Theodore Hoffman. Other officers installed included Mrs. Fred Rhodes, vice president; Mrs. Walter McClelland, recording secretary; Mrs. Holt Wyckoff, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Seymour Katz, treasurer.

Named committee chairmen were: Mrs. Holt Wyckoff, membership; Mrs. Homer Heller and Mrs. Robert Weichel, program; Mrs. Rhodes, luncheons; Mrs. Theodore Hoffman and Mrs. Katz, ways and means; Mrs. James Kilton, retiring president, youth committee; and Miss Lucie Girard and Mrs. Jesse Pierson, house committee.

A bake sale was planned for September and a card party and fashion show for January.

Ackerman Speaks To GOP Women

Luther H. Ackerman, of Mount Bethel, candidate for Republican nomination for U. S. Congressman was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Monroe Council of Republican Women held yesterday afternoon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

"Ocean distances are narrowing from days to hours and soon may be measured in minutes," he said, "bring the problems of international relations very close. Their solution seems possible only by moving in the direction of a recognition of the brotherhood of man."

Mrs. Alphonse Meyers, program chairman, also introduced local candidates: Ben K. Williams, Clifford Heller, Hanford Cleveland and Graden Praetorius. She also praised the Daily Record in giving space to the candidates' own reasons for believing they were qualified for the office they seek.

Mrs. W. Adolph Rake, president, called for reports which included: Mrs. Eli Travis, who reported $100 had been cleared on the recent project and bake sale; Dr. Nina Mae Price, who requested old stockings or similar materials for handicrafts for shut-ins; Mrs. Foster Minnich who reported on the regional conference in Monroe, when emphasis was on enlisting young and active Republican women in council membership which now stands at a half billion in the nation, 5,876 in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Mida Taylor and Mrs. Georgianna Lichtenberg were welcomed as new members. A picnic meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Minnich was announced for June 11. Mrs. Carl Wagner and her committee served tea from a table decorated with tulips and lilacs.

Home Economist Referees The Battle Of The Mixes; Lists Good Food Buys

By Margaret MacLaren

Monroe County Home Economist

Where do you stand in the battle of cake mixes versus recipe cakes? No matter what your opinion is, you have plenty of company. Cooks are divided into three groups on the subject—those who use only mixes, those who don't touch them, and the rest of us. Probably the only people who will be surprised at the findings of recent tests and surveys will be those in the second group.

Let's compare these U. S. Department of Agriculture findings with your own opinions. First, it has been found that the flavor of the best chocolate cake mix and the flavor of the best chocolate recipe cake were practically the same in texture, moisture, and flavor. A panel of judges were given the unidentified cakes to taste and could find no appreciable difference.

Needless to say, in order to get the best results from any packaged mix, the directions on the box must be followed explicitly.

Just as in dress patterns, one mistake on the part of the company can prove costly, so you can be sure the manufacturer has worked out the best recipe he is capable of.

The question of cost is one that has been in the minds of most homemakers because it is almost impossible for each person to figure the cost per penny of each item in a recipe cake. Are you surprised to learn that the cake mixes were about one-half a cent less per serving than recipe cakes? Remember these are not the mixes that have a self-pan included because they add to the cost of the mix batters.

In figuring the preparation and baking time, the number of utensils needed are a big factor. You need over twice as many utensils to make the recipe cake as the mix cake. The mix cakes (in layers) were in the oven about 20 minutes. It takes 38 minutes to prepare the recipe cakes by the creaming method. It was cut to 35 minutes for the one-bowl method where all dry ingredients are combined and the liquid added.

When you compare keeping qualities, recipe cakes seem to have the edge. Mix cakes after six weeks in the freezer or 48 hours at room temperature had a slightly stale flavor. Mix cakes dry out quickly at room temperature while there's little change in recipe cakes.

Ready For Rhubarb
Are you ready for rhubarb? It's here—that welcome spring-time vegetable that tastes like fruit. From January until May forced or hot-house rhubarb, pale pink in color, mild and slightly sweet in flavor, is found in markets. Most of this is grown in Michigan. In late April and through the summer field-grown rhubarb appears, it makes up about 4% of the supply in this part of the country. The more common greenish-red type has thick stalks and the "growing most popular red-type" has rich dark red stalks. Both are known for their tart flavor.

During May and June when the largest supply arrives to the markets—rhubarb is lower in cost. A Northern plant—it needs a long cold winter to produce quality stalks year after year. You'll need about one pound of rhubarb to make about 5 one-half cup servings of sauce. Two pounds make a generous 8- or 9-inch pie.

To prepare it for sauce, cut stalks into half-inch pieces—put pieces in a pan with enough boiling water to cover bottom of pan. Cover pan, cook until tender; add desired amount of sugar. Or bake—to hold its shape in pieces. Place cut rhubarb in baking dish. Sprinkle with water (2 tablespoons water for 2 lbs. rhubarb). Add sugar to taste. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes. Tangy rhubarb refreshes again in pies and puddings. Jams and conserves, added to strawberries, bananas or pineapple sauce, and in a tasty fruit punch.

Look for well colored stalks for good flavor. Fresh firm stalks are tender—free from strings. (Wiltly rhubarb lacks flavor.) Remove the leaves and discard them (since they are not edible). Wash stalks—pat off excess moisture, and store in a moisture-proof container, or a plastic bag, or foil. Eat rhubarb for its tangy flavor and the color it adds to your meal. It doesn't have an abundance of any food nutrient—but it does have some Vitamin "C."

Food Marketing Trends
Price changes both ways mark the retail meat market this week. Beef, and pork cuts, especially hindquarter beef and pork loin cuts are up 2-5c lb. in most stores. Prices for lamb cuts are somewhat lower by contrast. Supplies are temporarily heavier now, although there is less lamb coming to market than a year ago this time. Shorter supplies of all meats are responsible for the higher 1958 prices.

Frying chickens will be 2-3c lb. higher in many stores this week. Lately, the demand for broilers has been very strong, and the number of birds to be marketed the next 3-4 weeks does not quite meet current needs. By June, broiler supplies will be larger. If beef and pork prices hold steady, then frying chicken prices should drop back again.

Fresh vegetables are less expensive each week. Cucumbers, squash, lettuce, radishes, and asparagus should cost considerably less than was the case two or three weeks ago. Sweet corn from Florida, practically unavailable up to two weeks ago, will be a moderately priced big volume feature this week in many stores. Prices for old stock potatoes are down from the highs of three weeks ago, but quality is down too. Compare prices and quality carefully. New potatoes are somewhat more expensive, but quality-wise, they may, or may not be worth the difference in price. Fresh tomatoes which have been scarce all winter will be somewhat less expensive this week. They are not yet economical, that is unless some store would use them as a special at 25c lb. or thereabouts.

Strawberries from North Carolina are available in eastern sections, while Tennessee and Arkansas ship to Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania. Make your selection carefully—prices are moderate. Bananas remain a good fruit buy at this time.

Calling All Bell Girls For Harvey Party

The women who have worked with Mrs. Lulu Harvey at the Bell Telephone Co. over the years are honoring her at a retirement party on Saturday, May 24. A buffet luncheon will be served at the Elks Club from 3 to 9 p.m., and the committee is anxious that all former employees know about the party.

Reservations for the luncheon must be in by this Saturday and may be sent to the Bell Telephone Co., or to Mrs. Sarah DePaolo.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Edinger of Stroudsburg RD 2, announce the marriage of their daughter, Charlotte Ann, to George J. Driebe, son of James K. Driebe of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and the late Mrs. Anne Driebe of Stroudsburg.

They were married in Alexandria, Va., on November 16, 1957. They will be at home at 25 Spangenberg Ave., East Stroudsburg, after June 2.

But speaking of men, I understand Thelma had lined up quite a few prominent men about town to model caricature sacks—but at the last minute they got cold feet with each one blaming someone else for chickening out. Anyway Blanche Mackey did it better.

But speaking of fashions, the committee could have put on their own style show. They looked handsome, but pretty weary taking down 60 card tables and 276 folding chairs, each of which had its own trick in folding.

'ROUND AND ABOUT WYCKOFF'S: You just can't fool Pearl Walter! As I walked up to the cosmetics department the other morning, she sniffed and demanded, "Who around here is wearing Black Satin—YOU?" She always amazes me with her ability to distinguish one fragrance from another. "Of course," I admitted. "I practically emptied the tester a few minutes ago." It should be mentioned, however, that I am not the only one to like this exotic Angelique cologne—there were only a few drops in the tester when my nose led me to it. . . . Swank has designed it particularly for men. But I am in favor of women using it too, and I can think of no nicer Going Away gift for anyone vacation bound. It's called the London Traveler, and you find it in our jewelry department priced at 4.95. A small gold case, about the size of a woman's compact, it has a sliding lid which comes off to reveal a series of tiny nylon brushes. When the removed lid is slid into an under-groove, the miniature brushes spring into an upright position, and make the finest big clothes brush imaginable. I tried it on my own navy skirt, and believe me, it works! Swank has also designed a pill box for men—and it's about time someone did. I always thought that women had cornered the pill market, but it isn't so at all. As a matter of fact, I know more men taking Geritol tablets, Vitamin and nerve pills right now than I do women. The Swank pill box is gold, handsomely tailored, and has a hole through which the pills may be shaken, eliminating the necessity of opening the box. The price is 1.50. Remember both of these for Fathers' Day giving! . . . It seems to me that our store is just crammed at the moment with merchandise too unusual, and in some cases too beautiful, for description. Those whose homes have a quaint years-past flavor will be charmed, I believe, by the attractive plaques and tiles from Norway. I love them, and one of the tiles was among my most appreciated birthday gifts. Whimsical too, and reminiscent of Great Grandmother, are the extended hands, of English china, with their pretty floral or scenic patterns. At 2.98 these are useful on a dresser (as a catchall for pins, buttons, and such) or as serving dishes for small candies and goodies. Some have a very chintzy brown design; others are rose or blue. . . . On the other side of this display case in the center aisle, are sterling silver serving accessories, one of the loveliest being a hand-somely cut spoon from Norway priced at 10.00. Children will be delighted, I know, with the adorable silver penny banks bearing the Napier trademark. These would be perfect baby shower gifts, and are priced at 6.00. One is shaped like the proverbial pig. The other is an elephant. Now, who's first with a trunkful of pennies??? . . . I would rather have a good book to read any day of the week than a new dress to wear. If you are of the same opinion and can't possibly afford both, you'll be interested in knowing that our book racks are crammed with brand new copies of Modern Library Classics. Among the books which every confirmed reader will wish to own are The Brothers Karamazov, The Philosophies of Nietzsche, Nine Plays of Eugene O'Neill, The Complete Novels of Jane Austen, Lin Yutang's Wisdom of China and India, and Sixteen Famous British Plays, each priced at 2.95. Current best sellers on sale now at Wyckoff's are The White Witch by Elizabeth Goudge, and Maggie Now by Betty Smith. . . . Good news about Maudie Walton getting along so well after a sojourn in the hospital. Somehow things aren't the same around here without Maudie. Who else always tells me off and takes me down a peg—even when I'm behaving myself? . . . And don't you envy Ruth Widmer of our Cardede Florida vacation? Of course, she's missing some beautiful weather here—but no one can have EVERYTHING.

THE NEW LOOK—Straw hat season is practically upon us and the Pennsylvania State Police this year, for the first time, are joining the trend. Trooper Millard Wolfe, recently transferred to the Stroudsburg barracks from Lehighton models one of the new hats outside the local barracks. They will replace the traditional felt toppers during warm months.

"TOP DOLLAR" may hold on for the summer, but definitely won't come back in the fall. . . . Art Carney, finished with his Broadway role in "The Roar Dancers," visits Perry Como on May 24 and Dinah Shore June 15. . . . Sonja Henie is in Europe getting background film for the 90-minute color spec she will head in the Fall. . . . We'll soon be seeing "Noah's Ark" again, in the Sunday night at 7 spot on NBC. . . . "The $64,000 Challenge," due to be axed, will be around until Fall.

Tonight at 7:30 on ch. 2 and 10 Richard Simmons stars as "Sgt. Preston of the Yukon." When gold-hungry killers assassinate a miner and plant evidence that incriminates his partner, Sgt. Preston forces a showdown by calling in all rifles in the area for a ballistic test. . . . Guy Williams, as "Zorro," goes to the rescue of his servant, Bernardo, when he is attacked by one of The Eagle's men, and in the skirmish Zorro is unmasked at 8 p. m. on ch. 6 and 7.

Contestants on Groucho Marx's "You Bet Your Life" at 8 p. m. on ch. 3 and 4 include Groucho's 11-year-old daughter, Melinda, and Edgar Bergen's 11-year-old daughter, Candy. . . . Tonight's episode on "The Real McCoy's" at 8:30 p. m. on ch. 6 and 7 finds Groucho McCoy objecting to the modern method urged by the National Farm Grange, Walter Brennan, Richard Krenna and Kathy Nolan star.

Mary Bibber, the actual witness in the case dramatized on "Dragnet" tonight at 8:30 on ch. 3 and 4, identifies a masked robber solely by his eyes. . . . "The Disappearance of Daphne" on "Climax" at 8:30 p. m. on ch. 2 and 10 stars Mona Freeman, Ray Danton, Elaine Stritch, Irene Papas, Eduardo Ciannelli and Jenny Hecht in the story of a young society bride who discovers that her husband is apparently leading a double life and is implicated in the disappearance of his former dancing partner.

Actor Walter Brennan will be the special guest of Ernie Ford at 9:30 p. m. on ch. 3 and 4. . . . Bangor Artist Presents Exhibition

MRS. RACHEL Bray, Bangor artist, gave a painting demonstration at the regular meeting of the Pocono Mountains Art Group this week.

Mrs. Bray painted a still life, explaining each step as she proceeded.

The study was a majolica bowl containing lilies and Mrs. Bray in less than two hours rendered a finished canvas.

The Art Group meets every Tuesday night at Stroud Union High School.

Kunkletown

Jim Custer an artist of Kunkletown will give a demonstration at next Tuesday's meeting.

The Inn at Buck Hill Falls is currently showing paintings by members of the Pocono Mountains Art Group.

Bob Wolbach will lecture on the paintings Sunday at 2:30.

Red Demand Breaks Up Assembly

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly broke up in wild disorder last night after the Communists had protested the formation in Algeria of an illegal and insurrectional government against the republic.

Communist Waldeck Rochet demanded all parties in the Assembly unite to "bar the road to the sedition-mongers."

Immediately rightist deputies started yelling: "And Hungary, and Budapest? tell us about that."

The Communists shouted back in unison: "Fascism shall not pass."

New Dean Position

CORNING, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Jack M. Derringer, dean of students at the University of Buffalo, was named dean of Corning Community College yesterday.

The school opens officially Sept. 10.

Set Back Date Of Olympics

TOKYO (U)—The International Olympic Committee, at its first closed door meeting Wednesday, set back the date for the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley by six days.

Avery Brundage, president of the IOC committee, said the games, originally set for Feb. 12-22 in the California mountains, would be changed to Feb. 18-28 because some federation members felt the original date was too early.

Venezuela Ruled Out For Boxers

NEW YORK (U)—New York boxing managers have declared Venezuela off limits for their fighters "until the situation clears."

George Sheppard, president of the New York Boxing Managers Assn., said Wednesday the action was taken at a specially called meeting of the board.

The order cancels projected summer trips to Venezuela for three fighters—Chico Vejar, Peter Schmidt and Pat McCoy. They were scheduled to fight in Caracas in June and July.

Dodger Fans Are Patient

LOS ANGELES (U)—The Dodgers were warned months ago that sweat socks were about the only thing they could afford to lose in Los Angeles.

Because, one journalist declared, when it comes to losers, the Los Angeles fan has about as much patience as a dispeptic tiger.

But curiously enough, even with the Dodgers groveling in the National League cellar for the first time in a decade, the man in the stands here has exercised almost saintly restraint.

Even Tuesday, while the Dodger pitching staff was enduring the horror of a 25-hit riot perpetrated by the Giants, the response from the stands was remarkably sympathetic.

The prospect is for about a dozen other 3-year-olds to dispute his effort in the second leg of the coveted Triple Crown.

Three of them, Christiana Stable's Staysail, Llosgollen Farm's Gone Fishin', and Jaclyn Stable's L'il Fella, will be tried out Monday in a prep race without betting. Alec J. Bullock's Mickey Boy will try to show up the Preakness prospects in the mile and sixteenth race, an eighth of a mile shorter than Saturday's $1000,000-added classic.

Neither his distinguished record nor his powerful connections, Calumet Farm and trainer Jimmy Jones, had earned him yet a monopoly on attention.

FAR-SIGHTED OFFICIALS of the East Stroudsburg Little League have issued a letter to parents, regarding their "place" in Little League in the borough.

We feel the letter is worthy of space in this column, hoping other LL groups may adopt the same plan in helping adults realize the importance of the program and the understanding each parent must have throughout the season.

Herewith is the letter:

Dear Parents:

Below is a list of recommendations and suggestions your little league officials are requesting that you consider with deep interest and understanding. We sincerely believe that by adhering to these recommendations and suggestions our little league program will be carried out more smoothly and without any unnecessary unfortunate incidents. Keeping in mind that our little league program is offered for the benefit of our boys and them alone, please be so kind as to understand the reasons for the following:

Regarding the Players

a. Remember, they are only youngsters just playing and learning about the game of baseball for possibly, the first time.

b. They are not polished ball players, they have a lot to learn and they will make many mistakes. All of these are to be expected.

c. Please refrain from criticizing any boy in front of any one else, including your own son.

d. Do not compare one boy against another in regard to his ability or his potential ability. No one can tell who will eventually be the better ball player at this stage of the game.

e. Encourage them to play their best at all times. That's all you can ask of anyone.

f. Assist the coaches in teaching your boy the habits of good sportsmanship on and off the playing field.

g. Explain to your son that he should play the game to win but if he does lose to do so gracefully.

h. Demand that your boy is prompt in reporting to every practice his coach calls and that he attends each and every game unless properly excused.

i. Instruct your son that his coaches are volunteering their service in his behalf and that he should comply with their instructions completely.

j. Explain to him that the umpires are also volunteering their service in his behalf and that their decisions are not to be questioned at any time.

Regarding the Coaches

a. The coaches are all volunteers, without pay, giving up some of their free time in order to give your boy an opportunity to play organized baseball.

b. They do not pretend to be big-league managers and therefore although trying their very best, will make mistakes.

c. The coaches are men who will respect your boy under all circumstances and will keep in mind that his consideration comes before anything else.

d. The coaches will attempt to offer your boy all the knowledge he has in regard to the game of baseball. Naturally some coaches will know more than other coaches which is to be expected; also some coaches will teach in a different manner than other coaches.

e. Please do not criticize the coaches for any reason whatever. If you feel the need to discuss any problem with him contact him by phone, etc., and make necessary arrangements to do so.

f. Assist your boy's coaches in any way you can in order to make his season with your son a successful and fruitful one.

Regarding the Umpires

a. Remember these men are volunteering their services without financial compensation to help make our little league a more efficient organization.

b. At all times they are trying their very best to perform their duties as is expected of them.

c. There has never been an umpire born who didn't make mistakes so please don't expect our umpires to be the exceptions.

d. Please refrain from criticizing them in any way, manner or form at any time. Once they have made a decision it is final in all respects, except when the case is so extreme it has to be placed in the hands of the league's newly formed grievance committee.

Regarding the Spectators

a. We only trust that you enjoy each and every game you are able to witness. We trust you'll attend as many games as you can.

b. If and when your boy is participating give him all the encouragement you care to, keeping in mind that he may be playing against your neighbor's boy or with your neighbor's boy.

c. Please do not participate in any form of unnecessary emotion such as "booming," "razzing" or any other type of unsportsmanlike conduct. In other words, let all of us set good examples for our boys and let the game and their playing take its natural course.

d. Attempt to see to it that not only the spectator but the boys, coaches and umpires enjoy the game as much as possible.

We trust that you have read these recommendations and suggestions and that you will abide with them as closely as you possibly can. Let me remind you once again that our Little League is being run for the benefit of our boys alone. Help us to operate it as efficiently as possible. Any suggestions you might have to offer in regard to the improvement of any phase of the program will be happily received by any member of our league.

Here's hoping for a very successful season for your son and the Pocono Mountain Little League.

Sincerely,

PAUL LLOYD.

Hodge To Enter Pro Ring Career

NEW YORK — Dan Hodge, the Olympic wrestler turned boxer, made news yesterday on several counts.

1. He officially announced he has entered the pro fight ranks.

2. He doesn't want to fight Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson. Not this year, anyway.

3. He would like to fight Pete Rademacher, the 1936 Olympic heavyweight champion, who has had a one-fight pro career. Balding Pete was knocked out in the sixth round by Patterson in a title fight last Aug. 22.

4. George Gairford, longtime advisor to Sugar Ray Robinson, has been hired by Hodge's backers to teach the boxing tyro.

"I made up my mind to turn pro about three weeks ago," said Hodge, a former college and National AAU wrestling champion while at Oklahoma. "I think I can go places. I sure want to give it a try."

Undeclared

A member of the 1952 and 1956 Olympic wrestling teams, Hodge became a boxer only about seven months ago. He won all 17 of his amateur bouts, 12 of them by knockouts.

May Looks To Future

NEW YORK — George May is willing to sponsor a $250,000 golf tournament next year. Will fire Ed Carter, its tournament director, the New York World-Telegram and Sun said yesterday.

"I am ready to go back into tournament operation, but not with Carter," the Chicago businessman added in an interview with Lawrence Robinson, the paper's golf writer.

May passed through New York en route to Dunedin, Fla., where he will attend a meeting of tournament sponsors.

Last month May abandoned his rich Tam O'Shanter "world's" and All-American championships at Chicago in a dispute with the PGA over entry fees.

County Keglers To Hold Banquet

THE MONROE County League will have its bowling banquet at Lone Pine Inn today at 7:00 p.m. At this time all prizes and awards will be presented. There will also be an election of officers for the next bowling year and other business considered.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Doug Smith, football star at East Stroudsburg Area High School, has accepted an Alumni Scholarship to Rutgers University. It has been announced by Dean of Men Cornelius B. Boocock, chairman of the University's Scholarship Committee.

The Alumni Scholarship covers tuition, board and room rent. It is made available from funds contributed by Rutgers graduates to the annual Rutgers Fund campaign.

Star Tackle

Smith, a mainstay on Jack Kist's eleven the past two seasons, was rated one of the outstanding tackles in the history of the sport at East Stroudsburg.

Fangio Makes Change In 500 Entry

INDIANAPOLIS — World auto racing champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina switched cars at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway yesterday and stepped into one of the nearly legendary Novi specials.

Fangio told owners of the Dayton Steel Foundry Special he was dropping out of their car and will try to qualify one of the two Novis for the 500-mile race May 30.

Although long regarded as the fastest pieces of machinery at the track, the Novis have been dogged by bad luck and never have won a Memorial Day classic. This year they came powered with new eight-cylinder engines with two sparkplugs for each cylinder.

Not Uncommon

Speedway entries are by curs, not drivers, and it is not uncommon for drivers to change entries right up to race time. Mike McGill of Haddonfield, N. J., will replace Fangio in the Dayton car.

He qualified the same auto last year but crashed on the 101st lap.

Fangio, five times world road racing champ, took the Novi out of half a dozen laps and pronounced himself happy with the switch. He did one lap at 135 m.p.h.—the fastest track observation can recall a Novi going the first time out.

Rex Easton of Springfield, Ill., skidded 750 feet when he spun his Wyandotte Tool Special on the southwest curve during a practice run. He didn't hit anything and was not injured.

Davis Cup Site May Be Changed

NEW YORK — Postponement or change of site for the United States-Venezuela Davis Cup matches appeared likely Wednesday although U.S. Captain Perry Jones said, "I think we will play."

Jones, scheduled to fly out of New York Wednesday afternoon, postponed his flight until Thursday. His three-man team already is in Caracas, swept Tuesday by rioting and anti-American demonstrations.

The United States team is scheduled to meet Venezuela forces in an American zone elimination at the Altamira Tennis Club in Caracas Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

812 Main Street — Stroudsburg 1300

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Doug Smith, football star at East Stroudsburg Area High School, has accepted an Alumni Scholarship to Rutgers University. It has been announced by Dean of Men Cornelius B. Boocock, chairman of the University's Scholarship Committee.

The Alumni Scholarship covers tuition, board and room rent. It is made available from funds contributed by Rutgers graduates to the annual Rutgers Fund campaign.

Star Tackle

Smith, a mainstay on Jack Kist's eleven the past two seasons, was rated one of the outstanding tackles in the history of the sport at East Stroudsburg.

Fangio Makes Change In 500 Entry

INDIANAPOLIS — World auto racing champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina switched cars at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway yesterday and stepped into one of the nearly legendary Novi specials.

Fangio told owners of the Dayton Steel Foundry Special he was dropping out of their car and will try to qualify one of the two Novis for the 500-mile race May 30.

Although long regarded as the fastest pieces of machinery at the track, the Novis have been dogged by bad luck and never have won a Memorial Day classic. This year they came powered with new eight-cylinder engines with two sparkplugs for each cylinder.

Not Uncommon

Speedway entries are by curs, not drivers, and it is not uncommon for drivers to change entries right up to race time. Mike McGill of Haddonfield, N. J., will replace Fangio in the Dayton car.

He qualified the same auto last year but crashed on the 101st lap.

Fangio, five times world road racing champ, took the Novi out of half a dozen laps and pronounced himself happy with the switch. He did one lap at 135 m.p.h.—the fastest track observation can recall a Novi going the first time out.

Rex Easton of Springfield, Ill., skidded 750 feet when he spun his Wyandotte Tool Special on the southwest curve during a practice run. He didn't hit anything and was not injured.

Davis Cup Site May Be Changed

NEW YORK — Postponement or change of site for the United States-Venezuela Davis Cup matches appeared likely Wednesday although U.S. Captain Perry Jones said, "I think we will play."

Jones, scheduled to fly out of New York Wednesday afternoon, postponed his flight until Thursday. His three-man team already is in Caracas, swept Tuesday by rioting and anti-American demonstrations.

The United States team is scheduled to meet Venezuela forces in an American zone elimination at the Altamira Tennis Club in Caracas Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

lindane or malathion and repeat the application in another 10 days, continuing throughout the summer, at 10 day intervals.

One spraying is not enough because the miners do not appear all at once. Keeping the foliage covered with lindane will do much to control this pest, as some of the insecticide penetrates the leaf surfaces and kills the worms.

Ordinary stomach poisons will not be effective since the worm is in between the top and bottom tissues, and do not feed on the outer surfaces.

100,000 Pilgrims Visiting Lourdes

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is one in a series of articles on a recent trip to Europe by Rev. John A. Esseff and Rev. Robert Galligan, local Roman Catholic priests.

By Leonard Randolph

THERE were a hundred thousand men, women and children at Lourdes when Father Esseff and Father Galligan visited it during April.

"But I did not see a crowd. I saw people — I saw their faces and their hearts and love," Father Esseff says now.

In its own way this was a small miracle: To be able to see men and women individually when they might have been lost in the crowded sea of faces.

This year at Lourdes has special significance. It is the 100th anniversary of the vision of a young peasant girl named Bernadette Soubirous. Here, in a grotto in a dark, murky meadow called the Massabielle, Bernadette came face to face with the image of Mary, Mother of Christ.

It was here, too, that Bernadette prayed endlessly for the vision to identify herself and explain the reason for her appearance. After much prayer, the vision announced to Bernadette, and through the frail peasant girl, to the world: "I am the Immaculate Conception."

And it was here that the child was told to touch her fingers to the ground so that from the earth a spring would flow. Bernadette did, and the waters of Lourdes sprang forth in the year 1858, to become world-famed for their healing power.

Bernadette went on to become a nun, to death in a convent at Nevers and, eventually to sainthood. Today, her story is known to millions. And, because of her, so is the story of Lourdes.

"When we flew into the airport at Lourdes, it was a beautiful day. The weather the three days we were there was the most beautiful I've ever seen," Father Esseff said.

"This year they have special flights, because of the centennial. They expect 10 million pilgrims to visit the shrine this year," he said.

Lourdes is a town of about 13,000 people in the Pyrenees, a chain of mountains which separates France from Spain. Despite all the fame which has come to it through Bernadette's vision, the town has remained remarkably peaceful and has gone about its normal life. The shrine and the basilica of Lourdes are separated from the town.

The two Monroe County priests arrived "just in time" for the Procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament. There were thousands of people in the procession and, for them, it was one of the highlights of their trip.

Just as important, if not so readily recognizable, was the complete change in atmosphere between Lourdes and the activity of the outer world. Looking back on this now, Father Esseff says:

"There was a complete, an utter quiet about the basilica grounds, even when the people were praying or singing there was a hush of holiness and humility about the place. There is no air of hysteria, even though many of those who have come, hoping for a miracle, are in great pain and may be dying. There is only peace and prayer."

"At 8:30 at night, there was a candlelight procession. I don't think anyone could ever point for you, in words, the simple, yet awesome beauty of a procession with a hundred thousand candles burning."

"The people gathered in front of the grotto to sing together the Credo and the Salve Regina. There is something unexplainable about what happens at Lourdes, and I doubt that any man could ever explain it. But it seemed to me that no one who was there was there because he had wanted to be there or wished himself to be there."

"These people were there because it was Heaven's will that they be there, and only because of that."

"And I was there because I was called to be there. Nothing was more true than that, to me. All that Father Galligan and I had seen, all the things we had experienced up to that time had led up to Lourdes.

"Perhaps it was because there had been so much hurry in getting from one place to another up to then, but at Lourdes there was a slow, powerful and spiritual quiet. I saw everything that I usually see — but I think I saw much more."

"When I looked at the people, I could see the color of their clothes, their skin, the shades of their eyes, the meaning of the way they moved or spoke. Everything seemed to me, to be illumined. No one was an interference to my thoughts; I was just looking at those who came."

"No matter what they were or who they were or why they were there, the only important thing was that they were there. And it was important that I could see them and know them."

"And the longer we were at Lourdes, the more I began to see that its real importance does not lie in the miraculous cures which have been effected. There have been only 51 confirmed cures attested to by the Church as such. And the medical inspection system carried out by the fully-staffed hospital at Lourdes is as rigid as it can possibly be."

"But there have been literally thousands upon thousands of men, women and children who have come away from Lourdes with miracles in their hearts. No one can measure the God-given miracle which helps to heal the human soul. But these are miracles which happen every day."

"I learned many lessons at Lourdes. One of them came from a woman who was dying of lung cancer. She was pitifully emaciated and her flesh had been ravaged by the disease and her own pain. She had been given only six months to live — but that had been nearly two years before, and she was still living."

"She was one of the most beautiful persons I have ever seen. When I talked with her, she told me: 'I'm not here, Father, to pray for a miracle. I've already had my miracle. I'm here now to pray for a happy death.'"

If there is happiness at Lourdes, it seems likely that it is because of the things God has allowed men to see and understand there.

For Father Esseff and Father Galligan, it was a fitting end to a trip which had given them miraculous new insights into the meaning of God's design for mankind.

Turning the countless events of their journey over in his mind, Father Esseff has said that science, in its own way, has worked an immeasurable part of that pattern.

"The boundaries of nations are dissolving now. With air travel we are no longer separated, physically, by rivers or mountains or oceans. The situation is upon us now. God is forcing us to love one another," he said.

No one can pinpoint what any man brings home with him to his own heart from any experience. But, for Father Esseff, at least, the meaning of one European journey has been in the recognition of Christ in Man.

He recognized Christ, of course, in Padre Pio, the stigmatist who bears the wounds of the crucified Christ on his own body. And in Eugenio Pacelli, Pope Pius XII.

But he was able to see the image of Christ, too, in the faces of all those suffering at Lourdes; in the eyes of the young Italian boy in Milan; in the doubtful face of the skeptical woman who hadn't "seen" what she had "come to see" at the shrine.

More than ever before in his life, he had come to see that men of all nations and all personalities are a part of one another. The world of men is, indeed, a unified world in God's eyes; that, if we are to abide by God's word, we must learn to love, with meaning and direction, all the peoples of the world.

For only then will men see, clearly, that they are one with God, in a world which is, truly, without end.

Stroud Union Chorus Makes Annual Trip

EIGHTY-TWO members of Stroud Union School chorus sang before 2,500 persons in two school assembly programs yesterday as part of an annual trip.

In the morning, the group sang at Meyers High School, Wilkes-Barre, and in the afternoon at Kingston High School, Kingston, Pa.

Chorus from the host school joined the group in the finale of each program, "America, Our Heritage."

Another highlight of the programs was the singing of "Sanctus" from the St. Cecilia Mass by Gounod. At the morning program, the soloist was Joseph Geyer, choral director at Meyers, while Rhea Politis, a student at Kingston, was soloist at the afternoon concert.

Including in the touring group was the girls' chorus, mixed chorus and smaller groups specializing in Pennsylvania Dutch selections.

The group was accompanied by Numma Snyder, vocal music director, and John Regan, faculty advisor.

Gas Resolution

REDFORD 18 — A resolution designed to discourage gasoline price wars was adopted yesterday at the closing session of the three-day Pennsylvania Petroleum Assn. convention.

GERALD A. SNYDER

Candidate for
CHAIRMAN REPUBLICAN PARTY
MONROE COUNTY

My earlier statements outlined my platform and pledges to Republicans in Monroe County.

I now want to direct your attention to another very important matter. It will get my attention promptly when you elect me your chairman.

Back in 1940 when C. B. Rosenkrans was chairman he appointed a committee to write the rules and by-laws of our party. To that committee he appointed A. B. Meichner, chairman, E. D. Christine, Esq., Mrs. Thos. Thornton, Mrs. Foster Minnich, T. J. Kitson, Esq., Harold Kresge, and Aman M. Barber.

On July 19, 1940, that committee's work was accepted by the County Committee and, while Dr. Rosenkrans lived and remained in office, the rules the committee wrote guided all party business. In 1946 he died and was succeeded by the present incumbent. Since then Republicans have heard little about party rules, and today nothing. Our party seems to be a one-man outfit. You can change that situation on May 20th by voting for me.

I promise all Republicans a party guided by sound rules and by-laws as accepted and practiced by the late Dr. Rosenkrans, subject to change only by the will of the full committee.

Vote for me May 20th in the primary.

"Listen Edna, please don't say anything to anybody yet, but..."

"You know those appliances that I've been dying for... well, Harry says we've saved enough money and I can go out and buy them tomorrow. Really, Edna, Harry is so smart! A year ago, he explained that in any well-run business, a part of the income is put back into the business itself for future improvements. So, we set up a savings plan—regular savings from Harry's salary, and savings I made on running the household. And Edna, we got a lot of help from our Insured Savings and Loan Association. We started saving there because we know our money is safe and carefully managed—and we get good returns. Our money is insured, too! Really, it's the most popular place to save nowadays."

For a new kind of family peace of mind... why don't you open a savings account first thing at our Association where savings are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation—an agency of the U. S. Government.
